

Lho Mon Education creates a new secular curriculum for Chokyi Gyatso Institute

We need to get the classrooms set up for the English Language Intensive that begins in January. This is just one of several groundbreaking pilot projects LME is incubating to help introduce GNH-infused education alternatives across Bhutan.

"The cognitive revolution of the past thirty years provides a different perspective on our lives, one that emphasizes the relative importance of emotion over pure reason, social connections over individual choice, moral intuition over abstract logic, perceptiveness over I.Q. It allows us to tell a different sort of success story, an inner story to go along with the conventional surface one."
